Specifically, all part-time RTs shall be required to complete an ISGH Employment Application Form and be interviewed by the Executive Body prior to any final decision on such hiring. The Zonal Director or Associate Director or Islamic Center Council may meet with prospective candidates prior to the interview with the EB but under no circumstances shall an employment offer be made to the prospective candidate by anyone other than the EB. In recommending the hiring of a part-time RT, the respective Islamic Center must provide the EB with the job requirements for such a position including the specific responsibilities and tasks of the position and the approximate number of hours the potential employee must work for ISGH in his part-time capacity. Policy

The first 90 calendar days of employment/reassignment or the period stipulated in the appointment/reassignment letter or any extension thereof constitute the Probation Period.

If ISGH determines that the designated introductory period does not allow sufficient time to thoroughly evaluate employee's performance, the introductory period may be extended for a specified period.

In case of promotion or reassignment within ISGH an employee who in the sole judgment of the management is not successful in the new position can be removed from that position at any time during the Probation Period. In this case, at management's sole discretion and depending upon the availability of such position and ISGH needs, the employee may be returned to employee's former position or to a comparable position.

Upon satisfactory completion of the initial Probation Period employees enter either the regular or part-time employment classification.

516 – ORIENTATION OF NEW BOARD MEMBERS

DATE INITIALLY APPROVED: 6/XX/2019

DATE LAST UPDATED:

Policy

Many people serving on a non-profit organization's Board of Directors, such as ISGH, have never previously served on a Corporate Board (either profit or no-profit) while others may have served on a non-profit Board of Directors that has different expectations for Board Members than ISGH.

This document therefore outlines, in general terms, the role of individual Board Members of ISGH and expectations for them.

Role of Board Member

1. General Responsibilities:

- a. Duty of Loyalty: Each board member must place the interests of ISGH before their personal and professional interests when acting on behalf of ISGH in a decision-making capacity. ISGH's needs come first.
- b. Duty of Care: Each board member has responsibility to participate actively in making decisions on behalf of ISGH and to exercise due diligence and best judgment while doing so. Each board member must act in good faith and in a manner he reasonably believes to be in the best interests of ISGH.
- c. Duty of Obedience: Board members bear responsibility of ensuring that ISGH complies with applicable federal, state and local laws and ISGH Constitution and Bylaws, and its policies and procedures.

2. Expectations:

- a. General: Know the mission, purpose, goals, policies, programs, services, strengths and needs of ISGH. Recognize that Board service is a commitment. Strive towards a constructive partnership with fellow Board members built on a shared understanding of mission and vision; reciprocal communication; and with mutual respect and trust.

Understand and embrace fiduciary responsibilities. Assist in raising funds for operation of the Society. Ensure that Board meeting agendas include the Board's periodic review and update of the Society's published policies and procedures.

- c. Strategic: Review Strategic Plan. Review Board meeting agendas to focus Board's attention on matters of strategic importance. Keep abreast with current trends in governance of religious (Islamic and others) charitable non-profits.
- d. Financial: Read and understand the Society's financial statements and otherwise help the Board fulfill its fiduciary responsibility. Review recent financials and have an understanding of the budget practices in order to know what to approve in budgets.
- e. Organizational Structure: Review organizational chart. Understand how the organization is structured and how the board interacts with specific departments, staff members and committees. Act as an ambassador for the Society and when in public, speak only with one voice outside of board room. Inform others about ISGH and be an advocate for the Society.
- f. Self-Assessment: Assure their own effectiveness in providing effective leadership of the organization through annual self-assessment by the Board Member himself using questionnaire.

3. Role of the Board:

The Board in general engages in three types of governance, namely, fiduciary, strategic and generative governance. Fiduciary governance addresses routine items such as basic legal responsibilities of the organization, including review and approval of minutes, financial statements, committee reports, policy updates, bylaws and the like. Strategic governance is about the big picture - addressing of policy questions on 3~5 years issues that the organization is undertaking or will undertake. Generative governance addresses really truly big questions that the Board engages in such as – where the organization is headed, or how the organization is performing within the context of the entire eco-system in which it operates, for instance in non-profit sector, charitable or religious or educational sectors, or within the socio-political framework.

- a. Keeper of the mission:

- d. Initiates and sustains change process to expand opportunities for volunteering, involvement and influence by eligible voting members of the organization.
- e. Builds the brand image of the organization and actively markets the organization to be an ambassador of Muslim community in Greater Houston to other non-Muslim communities in general.

[Example: xxx@masjidalsalam.org]
 2. Provide accurate header information and a postal address for the sender. The "From" section of the e-mail should clearly and accurately identify either the sender or ISGH (or Islamic Center) or both. The body of the message should contain a snail-mail address. The sender should make it clear to the recipients why they're being emailed — for example, "You are receiving this email because you are a donor", or "You are receiving this email/newsletter because you subscribed to receive email/newsletter from ...". Provide a valid physical postal address of the sender. [Example: ISGH or IC.]

 4. Give the message an accurate subject line. Use a subject line that is not misleading as to what is contained in the email. It is unlawful to use subject lines that mislead the recipient about the contents or subject matter of the message. Ensure that the e-mail is related to the ISGH's mission (example: information for members, renewals, or news about current or upcoming programs) and is not of commercial in nature.
 5. Provide recipients clear and conspicuous notice of the opportunity to opt-out of future mailings. The notice must be in every email message and must be provided to all individuals receiving the message. Include in every email either a link to a page where recipients can remove their addresses or provide an e-mail address where they can write to have their addresses removed. Do not require any information other than their email address to unsubscribe.
1. If some members opt out of future mailings, respect their wishes. The sender/IC/ISGH has 10 days to remove them from the mailing list(s). Do not send subsequent email after that. Furthermore, if the recipient has opted-out, the sender may not release the email address of the recipient to others.
